Harding Will Win
Because the People
Demand a ChangeNothing Could Stem the Tide of Popular Disapproval of Eight Years of Wilson—League
Only Small Factor.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Just why the democrats will lose the presidency may be hard for the staunch advocates of the league of nations to understand, but anyone who got beneath the veneer of political oratory and propaganda of either party in this campaign and mingled with folks everywhere must have learned that after watching the wearisome debate in the United States senate for more than a year, the country bestirred itself only with difficulty in the last few weeks of the campaign on the league issue.

For the experiment of a referendum on the league of nations question as a controlling influence with the voters has worked out in spots. The result in a few states will be attributable to a general swing for or against the league, but not many elections will have been cast on account of the league.

Could Not Stem Tide

Massachusetts with its large number of defections of Irish democrats would have been responsible for other reasons. New York may be cited in the same category, and similarly New Jersey. As for the losses to the democrats of the German and Italian voters, these are not so much the effect of the league as the whole Wilson foreign policy in Europe. The group of foreign born did take an interest in foreign questions. But the American people as a whole have too recently been plunged into the maelstrom of world politics to give preference to international affairs over domestic concerns.

Home Affairs and Cabinet

It has been hard indeed in this campaign to interest the average farmer who is grieved over the fall in the price of wheat, in the merits of article 19. It is difficult to interest the business mind in the possibilities of foreign trade under the league of nations when he is worrying about the excesses of the excess profits tax at home. It is difficult to explain the important relationship between a stabilized Europe and expanded markets for American goods (instead of a bankrupt Europe, and contracted orders because of lack of credit) when in the background of so many minds is the impression created by the constant hammering at the republican party against the Wilson cabinet and the alleged lack of interest in domestic reconstruction since the armistice.

Change Demanded

The desire for a change of personnel at Washington was the dominant issue in this campaign. It did not even require a clear understanding of a change of policies. The republicans offered very few constructive suggestions and were content to center attention on the weaknesses of the incoming party. The democrats also stood in a doctrinaire campaign or stayed on a doctrinaire position. Neither party clearly outlined a reconstruction policy. The democrats are being turned out of power for failing to put into effect change in agriculture, for the war ended and they failing to preserve a machinery to effect a transition during the reconstruction period without letting the cost of living go higher than it was during the war itself. The republicans are not being brought into power because they are considered inherently better than the democrats, though among partisan republicans it is insisted that the vote is for a better group of administrators than the republican party than the democratic party could offer. It is for the moment a vote against the democratic administration.

Harding's Cabinet

The writer's conclusion after many weeks of study from an independent viewpoint is that not so much is expected from Senator Harding as from the 10 men with whom he will surround himself if the cabinet. It is a negative mandate, a verdict against the party that has been in power and not an affirmative expression for the hope that else except possible the hope that the incoming administrators will profit by the punishment and punishment of the democrats.

Of course it is none of the writer's business to say whether the impression of democratic inefficiency which has been so assiduously spread by the republicans is a true one. Anyone who was in Washington during the

GAS COMPANY TO SPEND $100,000 ON IMPROVEMENTS

Send It on Approval They Ask

"I'll have this sent out on approval."

"This is commonly to be heard in all stores after a woman's boy has made his selection of one garment from among many, and the saleswoman will send it at once. Again she will consult with the manager. Whether or not the article will be sent depends largely upon what extent the person desiring it is known."

With an inspiring leader, an enthusiastic choir of 100 voices, and 500 new hymn books of rousing gospel hymns, the musical part of the evangelistic campaign planned for November at the Methodist church was successfully inaugurated yesterday morning. Seated in a loft built in the Sunday school room, and the choir under the direction of the leader, N. O. Echols, rendered several effective selections. Mr. Echols also sang "When They Ring the Golden Bells for You and Me."

Upon asking one Janesville retailer in women's ready to wear why he was so careful about sending merchandise on approval, he said: "Well, just last week I was tricked in a woman's cause in and asked to look at our best afternoon dresses. After seriously considering two of the best ones in the house she at last decided upon the more expensive of the two, saying that it was sent on approval to a given address. The next morning she brought it back, pleading dissatisfaction. We took it out, but the woman left us nothing but the sleeves, which were torn. Of course we had no way of proving this."

While this trick is not as common in Janesville as it is in larger cities still there is scarcely a store here which has not had an experience with this kind in one way or another.

One dealer said that the other day a young woman from town came in and looked at our coats. She chose an expensive quality coat and said "I'll send it to her mother to look at." The next morning the young woman returned it. She had, however, forgotten to remove several articles, a handkerchief and a hat, from one of the pockets.

"Undoubtedly that coat had been worn," said the storekeeper.

Editor Gazette:

Since the Frances Willard school house has been purchased by the W. C. T. U. assisted by contributions from public spirited citizens, its wish has been expressed by many that this historical landmark might be removed into the city, given an appropriate setting and kept where it can easily be seen as a show place for tourists and others who knew and loved Frances Willard.

Some on has suggested that it might be placed in a corner of the Fourth ward park; others that the court house might allow it to be given space in the upper part of the court house park; others that some one might be willing to donate a lot where to place the building. Here is an opportunity for Janesville to see a hallowed spot famous all over the world.

The W. C. T. U. seems to be anxious to get the sentiment of the public on this matter and to do whatever seems best.

Illinois has done a good job in this matter, placing her statue in the Hall of Fame in Washington;

but Wisconsin, where she lived all the early years of her school life, has done nothing to give honor to her memory.

Now is the time to dignify her memorial to her life in Janes-

BETTER EQUIPMENT ALSO.

Janesville will certainly be pleased if the signal service of the railroads to Milwaukee is inaugurated. But we want more than a faster service; we want a better equipment of the trains. What we have now would have passed for a fair outfit in 1860, but is far and away from present day demands or expectations of the public.

Two and a half hour trains with full equipment for the public comfort will, we are sure, be a good investment by the roads.

WHY HARDING WINS.

There appears to be no doubt of the election of Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge at the election tomorrow.

The reasons are clear. Elected by a republican spirit in 1912, reelected by a false cry of keeping out of war in 1916, the democratic administration by Mr. Wilson has established an unparalleled record for inefficiency, for unprecedented waste and extravagance in government at home, for bungling and meddling in world matters generally. In its personal appeal it has been intolerant and self-righteous, loaded up with visionary schemes for the regeneration of mankind at the expense of the people of America. It has attempted to impose a dictatorial policy on a people and refused to abide by the will of the nation when expressed as it was, in 1918, by a referendum and the administration defeated.

The administration has solved no problem for labor, has worked out no better program for the farmer, has failed to make progress in any direction of curbing excess profits, and has added to the burdens and grievances of the professional men and women who have been living on fixed salaries.

The capacity of the republican party will be challenged to meet the problems, and if it fails the party may expect to meet the same fate as is being meted out to Wilsonism and the democratic administration this week.

The nation is going to place its destiny in the hands of the republicans because it wants something it is not getting now—real constructive, forward-looking administration with the American people and the problems of the American people in view and not the worries of European nations.

BE CONSISTENT ON THE ESCH.

CUMMINS BILL.

If a voter casts a ballot against Irvine L. Lenroot because he believes all the lying statements made about the Escu-Cummins bill, he should not stop there.

He should also vote against Harding and Coolidge for the same reason. Senator Harding supported the Escu-Cummins law, voted for it and aided in its construction.

The most inconsistent thing that can be done in the state is to vote for Harding for president and against Lenroot for senator.

You cannot make flesh of one and fish of the other. If you vote for Harding, by the same token you will vote for Lenroot. Why? Because you are supporting Harding in the belief that, in spite of his vote for the Escu-Cummins law, which you disapprove, he will give the people the best administration. You know that Senator Lenroot stands among the leaders of national affairs that he is head and shoulders above any man in Wisconsin in the elements of statesmanship.

If you are going to show the cloven hoof to the distance, follow the suggestion of the Madison Capital Times the La Follette paper, and vote for Debs along with Thompson. Every vote for Harding should mean a vote for Lenroot—it cannot be consistent in any other way. Don't vote for a president and put a man in the senate to assassinate him.

REED IN WISCONSIN.

What was anticipated to be a catastrophe, a cyclone and a great seismic disturbance in politics with the bringing to Wisconsin of Senator Reed of Missouri has proved not even a hillside torrent after a soft and gentle rain. If the Missouri senator who is supposed to be possessed of a fascinating number of bouquets of rhetorical flowers and in his own state was once known as "Bossy Debs," had an idea that he was coming into Wisconsin with his renegade democracy and stir up enthusiasm for Thompson, he was in deep error. No one paid even the attention they gave the far-off king of Greece dying of a monkey bite, to the senator. Thrown out of his own party, refused a renomination in Missouri, rebuked by the legislature of his state, refused a seat in the national democratic convention, he came to Wisconsin to tell republicans here that they had a great public duty in supporting the La Follette La Follette photographic record, James Thompson, for the senator. Yet in many ways he was fitted by his political attitude to consort with the crowd for which he talked.

ONE BIG ITEM OF IMPORTANCE.

It would be absurd to elect a republican president and put into congress a majority either against him or opposed to most of the things the republican party stands for. Does anyone think that James Thompson, saturated with semi-socialistic ideas and actuated under the tutelage of La Follette, would support Warren G. Harding? Certainly not. Nor would he and the few, very few, with whom he might act, accomplish anything. They would merely perform the office of the manger dog or the rocks in the road.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE: I registered today Joe. Mrs. Fink and I went around to the registering place together (it's in a barber shop, Joe, can you imagine that?) I suppose they think it makes look more manly, but if they think they can intimidate us women by any such tactics they'll have to think on the other side of their mouths.) Anyhow I'm a regular professional voter now and while so far I can't say it's made me feel much better, at least I don't feel any worse, and personally I've always felt that if a thing don't do you any harm it's either got to do you good or at worst leave you neutral the way it found you, so taking a chance is all in your favor with nothing to lose and heads you win.

The registering man asked me a number of personal questions in a loud antagonizing tone, such as where do I live and how long have I lived there, as if that had anything to say because I realized I was under oath and although I've heard that being under oath don't count if you cross your fingers I personally believe in keeping the principle of the law rather than the spirit of it. So the result is I didn't say anything, and he says, "Shall I put down 27?"

"Don't you dare," I says, and he says, "Shall I put down 24?" I says "It's perfectly immaterial to me what you put down," I says with a slight smile to show him I didn't want to seem unreasonable.

And when it came Mrs. Fink's turn she acted in the same devil-may-care way as me and got 27 for her age, which is far better for her than 25 is for me, though she had the seeming innocence on the way home to tell me that 27 was little or no under-exaggeration! Can you imagine that, Joe?

Well, love,

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson. In Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: In order to provide a little food for thought to those persons who object so strongly to "paint and powder," I want to tell you why I believe in them. I had been married very young (am just 30 now) and was devoting my entire time to the care of my two children and my home and husband. I made all the children's clothes and my own, even made my hats. I did all my own work and a lot of outside work, I mean such as keeping the lawn, and so on. I never had a thought in my head of anything outside my four walls and was like a child in my ideas of the world. As far as putting any time or thought on improving my person appearance, I never dreamt of such a thing. A woman's duty was to give all her time to her home and children; such was the conception which I had acquired.

Then gradually things began to happen. My young husband began to join lodges and away from home several evenings a week. I had sole care of the children, sick and well. My husband began to be abusive and it was plain to see his love was not the same. It became almost more than I could stand.

Well, I began to think in a different way. There was something more than giving all one's thought to people and never expecting anything in return. There was a reaction. I determined to devote more time to myself. I did not neglect my children but I did spend less time in keeping my house clean. My health was poor owing to the way I had been living. I began to buy ready-made clothes and pretty ones. I dressed myself and learned to dress myself becomingly. I had pretty hair and I tried to do it in attractive ways. But I had no color and so I used a good rouge, cleverly, and a good powder. Also I did everything possible to bring out every hidden beauty. The result was my husband began to notice me, began to feel proud of me and fell in love all over again. My children adore me because I am so young and don't look like the "other kids' mothers," and I am the best kids they have. Children like to have a young mother. I do not have to be a baby, I am young too. As for painting and powdering, I say if they are used with discretion and cleverly they are just as commendable and necessary to a woman's well-grounded appearance as a neat woman coming to town. How many women come to town, paint and powder wearing hats? Wouldn't it be funny if they all answered truthfully?

MRS. M.

Your experience has been most interesting. I congratulate you on your way to success. Carry on what you know to be the right thing. In one word you were blessed. You may money to buy ready-made clothes. Many women who would like to follow your course cannot scrape together enough extra money for a box of powder.

Personally I am not ready to sing praises to a box of rouge. The use of it brings far more tragedy into the world than happiness. One of the saddest sights, I think, is a young girl who advertises her cheapness in the artificial color of her checks.

"A Troubled Wife": It seems to me you have good cause for divorce. Do not permit the man to come back. It will be far better to separate now than to wait until children make the tangle more complex.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: If a woman is divorced and has a child, should she be addressed "Miss" or "Mrs." She should be addressed as "Mrs."

SAMSON EMPLOYES TO HOLD CARNIVAL IN NEW FOUNDRY

To be probably the biggest affair of its kind ever attempted in Janesville, a Samson carnival will be held at the enormous new foundry at Spring Brook, November 20, 21 and 22. Preliminary plans were laid at a meeting of the Samson's Employees' association and a number of Janesville citizens held at the Grand hotel Friday night.

With 18 spacious booths devoted to sales; special attractions; and several dances going on simultaneously in schools, each of which is 4,000 square feet of space in the part of the foundry that will be used will be taken up. The portion of the huge building where the dongs will be is 90x200 feet. The Samson orchestra and the Samson band will be out in full force for the dances. Unusual decorations will make a gala hall out of the foundry. Provisions will be made for plenty of parking space for those coming in.

Proceeds from the carnival will be used by the Samson Employees' association for its winter activities of the employees of the big plant and for the promotion of future athletics. Sales at the booths will be conducted by several girls of the plant and the various schools.

Committees at work on the gigantic project are:

Preparation of building and decorations—Joseph Eggert, chairman; A. C. Steinbauer, I. G. Miller.

Downtown work and preparation of booths—Del Harder, chairman; J. J. Kirby, John Kothier, James Buchanan.

Citizen's committee—Mayor Thompson, E. Welsh, Frank Croak, Lewis Avery, Amos Rehberg, George Sherman, George Kueck, J. J. Dulin, Thomas G. Murphy, John Kennedy, Otto Kueck, T. W. Winslow, C. E. Snyder and Frank Sinclair.

RED CROSS PREPARES FOR 1920 ROLL CALL

The local Red Cross office on the second floor of the post office is the place for the time for the annual Red Cross roll call drawn near.

Miss Hattie Alden, secretary, and Miss M. Irene Edwards, who is assisting are preparing circular letters, which will be sent to nearly all residents of the city. The roll call will be on Armistice day, Nov. 11, and ends on Thanksgiving, Nov. 25. No house to house canvass will be made, but all residents of the city will be reached through the circular letters and circulars issued at the factories to the employees.

School Bus Plan Works Out Well

One of the little second graders at the Webster school wept bitterly Friday afternoon, for a long time and was unable to ascertain what the trouble was.

Then the youngster said brokenly, "I wanna ride too."

"Ride," said a passerby who had stopped when he heard the child crying, "well you'll have a ride. Tomorrow I'll take you to the bus stop."

The "that" referred to was a bus filled with little kindergarten students from the Webster school which was just recently built. The bus stop is in front of the Webster school. Every afternoon the bus comes not only to the Webster but also to the Jackson school to take all the youngsters of kindergarten age to the Douglas school where kindergarten facilities are the best in the city. In the morning the bus takes the little tots from the Washington school and kindergarten being held in the morning. And every day the bus leaves behind it a string of wistful little first, second, and third graders from the various schools, who wish that they too might go to class in a bus.

"The system is working very well, even much better than was expected," said Frank Holt, superintendent of schools. Not only does it save the difference between the cost of its operation and the price of an extra teacher which amounts to several hundred dollars a year, but it also gives the children both enjoyment and a chance to attend a better kindergarten than they could possibly have in their own school building.

On every trip the bus is crowded to its fullest capacity. The teachers say that more children are attending kindergarten this year than ever before. They ascribe this in part to the fact that the children enjoy the ride so much that they begin to go to school.

Not only is the bus filled on nice days, but in rainy and cold weather the children come just the same. The bus is electrically heated so the children will not get cold on their way to school.

Mr. Holt stated that in his opinion the attendance in cold weather will not drop off this year as it has often done formerly.

HARDING WINS: CHANGE DEMANDED

It was known how difficult it was for an administration to do the job that was done. Not only did the inevitable investigations and restrictions and other unfortunate it is that the democrats didn't have four years of peace in which to work out their democratic ticket because he had done nothing to embitter the Harding supporters by any excessive interest in league of nations or Gov. Cox's candidacy. Senator Johnson's program interested him, but the war was a factor. Senator Edwards, one of the noticeable things in the office is the attitude of most people toward the Red Cross. Some people are surprised that the Red Cross is running since the war, and others think that they are doing nothing.

H. S. Ground in Dust by Delavan; All Stars Defeated

By George McManus.

BLUES CRUSHED;
GO TO PIECES;
LOSE BY 60 TO 7

Dragged around, mauled, toyed with, Janesville high school was overwhelmedly defeated by the Delavan high team at the lake town Saturday, Oct. 25. Their only satisfaction was that they scored when Dawson, right end, intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown in the last nine minutes of play.

Janesville was never in it for any length of time. The Blues did not once get down more than four times during the whole game. Janesville went to pieces. The Bower City boys lost in the beginning when Dawson missed their favorite pass the first play of the game, with the field wide open.

Reeder Makes Eight.

Reeder, plucky little half back for Delavan, made eight of the nine touchdowns scored. He took off a 60-yard run and several 40-yard runs. Reeder gained plenty of ground for Delavan with his end zone. Delavan's off tackle play was good for times every time it was used.

Grannidge, Casey, Schulz, Gesteland and Dawson featured Janesville's short battles.

In the first quarter Reeder caught Grannidge's punt and ran 60 yards through the entire Janesville team for a touchdown. The off-tackle play and an end run gave Delavan another touchdown. Finable by McCleary, followed by a couple of end zone by Reeder, scored the third touchdown in the first period, despite "Red" Casey's daring flying tackle that halted him for a time. Score: Delavan, 21; Janesville, 0.

Second Quarter Worse.

The second quarter was worse. Delavan added seven more points, while Janesville was hit to a zero. The Blues seemed to break to pieces. They did not stop anything. It was Reeder who took the oval over again. Score at the half: Delavan, 28; Janesville, 0.

Delavan's line outweighed Janesville 25 to 30 pounds. At the end of the half, Coach Raymond and Manager Wolfe raked the blues over the coals with the result that they showed real fight for the first five minutes of the second half, but after that dropped their pep. The third quarter was just a repetition with Reeder going over center for a touchdown, but Rehns missed the goal this time. Score: Delavan, 35; Janesville, 0.

Fourth Is Worst.

Then came the fourth quarter in which Delavan scored 24 additional counters, while Janesville managed to get a touchdown. The last off-tackle gave Delavan a touch-down. A little see-saw work, but the ball went to Reeder in long pass and it was over. Reeder intercepted a pass and as before, he crossed and made a touchdown. With the score 55 to 0, Dawson pulled his interception and made Janesville's lone touch-down. He took an off-jolt to show the Blues they still had some spring left. Delavan added another touchdown, but lost the kick and the final score was Delavan, 60; Janesville, 7.

Conditions on Olympic Trip Were "Unavoidable"

New York, Nov. 1.—The American Olympic Committee, in a statement replying to complaints by some members of the Olympic games athletes regarding accommodation to and from Antwerp on the transport Princess Matolka, today said that unavoidable circumstances made impossible the return of the athletes. A more complete report of the committee will be made on December 4.

Financial handicaps and the sudden shift from the expected use of the transport Northern Pacific, were given as factors in the unsatisfactory treatment.
